SPECIALTIES

The menu of this restaurant that has been in the local culinary scene for fifteen years, suffered what reality shows call an 'extreme make over'. The purpose? This is more an intuition than a certainty: to continue attracting tourists, which is our captive audience; but with the new look, it could well make an incursion between the demanding local 'foodies', who know well what is a "locro" of potatoes or an encocado. The fact is that from now on, the Theatrum offers exclusively regional Ecuadorian food, from Costa, Sierra and Amazonia. In other words, forget dishes without restaurant personality for tourists.
